

"We might, perhaps, try this route for our vacation trip," suggests Tom Homic to Ken Strzalka.

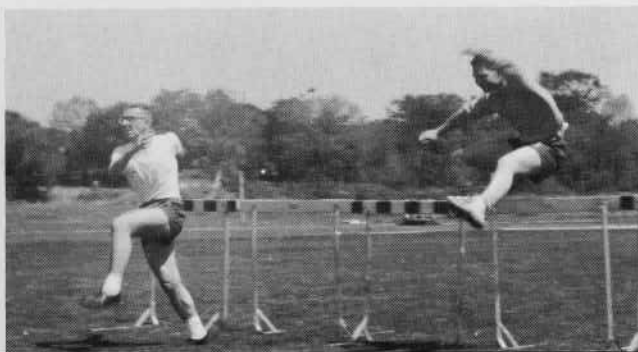

"I still say we should have automatic doors here," insists Ed Plocki to Linus Barch.

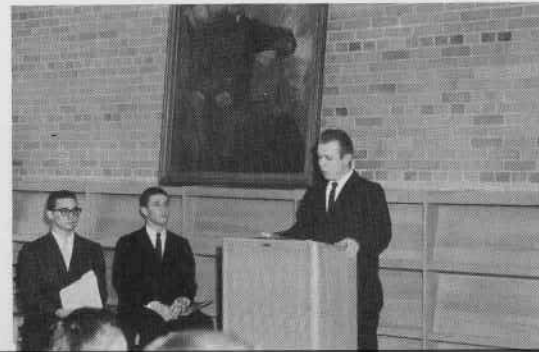

Words of wisdom and humor are shared by Al Landa, Ed Sobelewski, and Stan Kotsko.

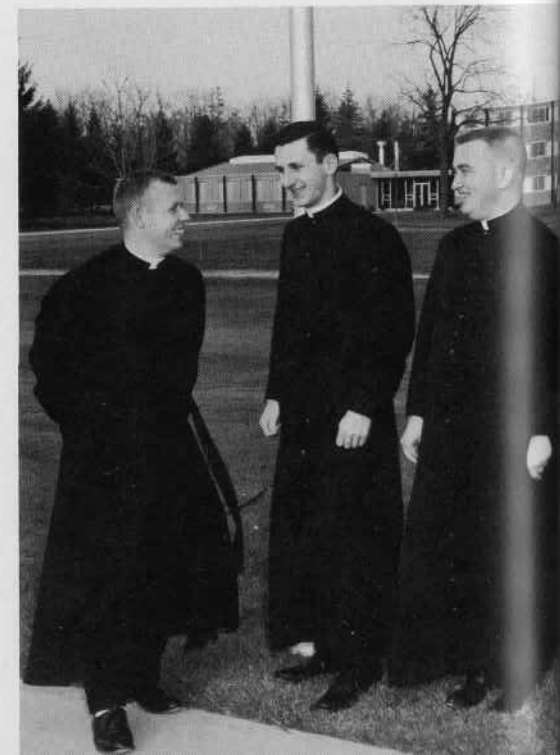

A hop, a skip, and a jump . . . Norbert Maciejewski and Jerry Buszek.

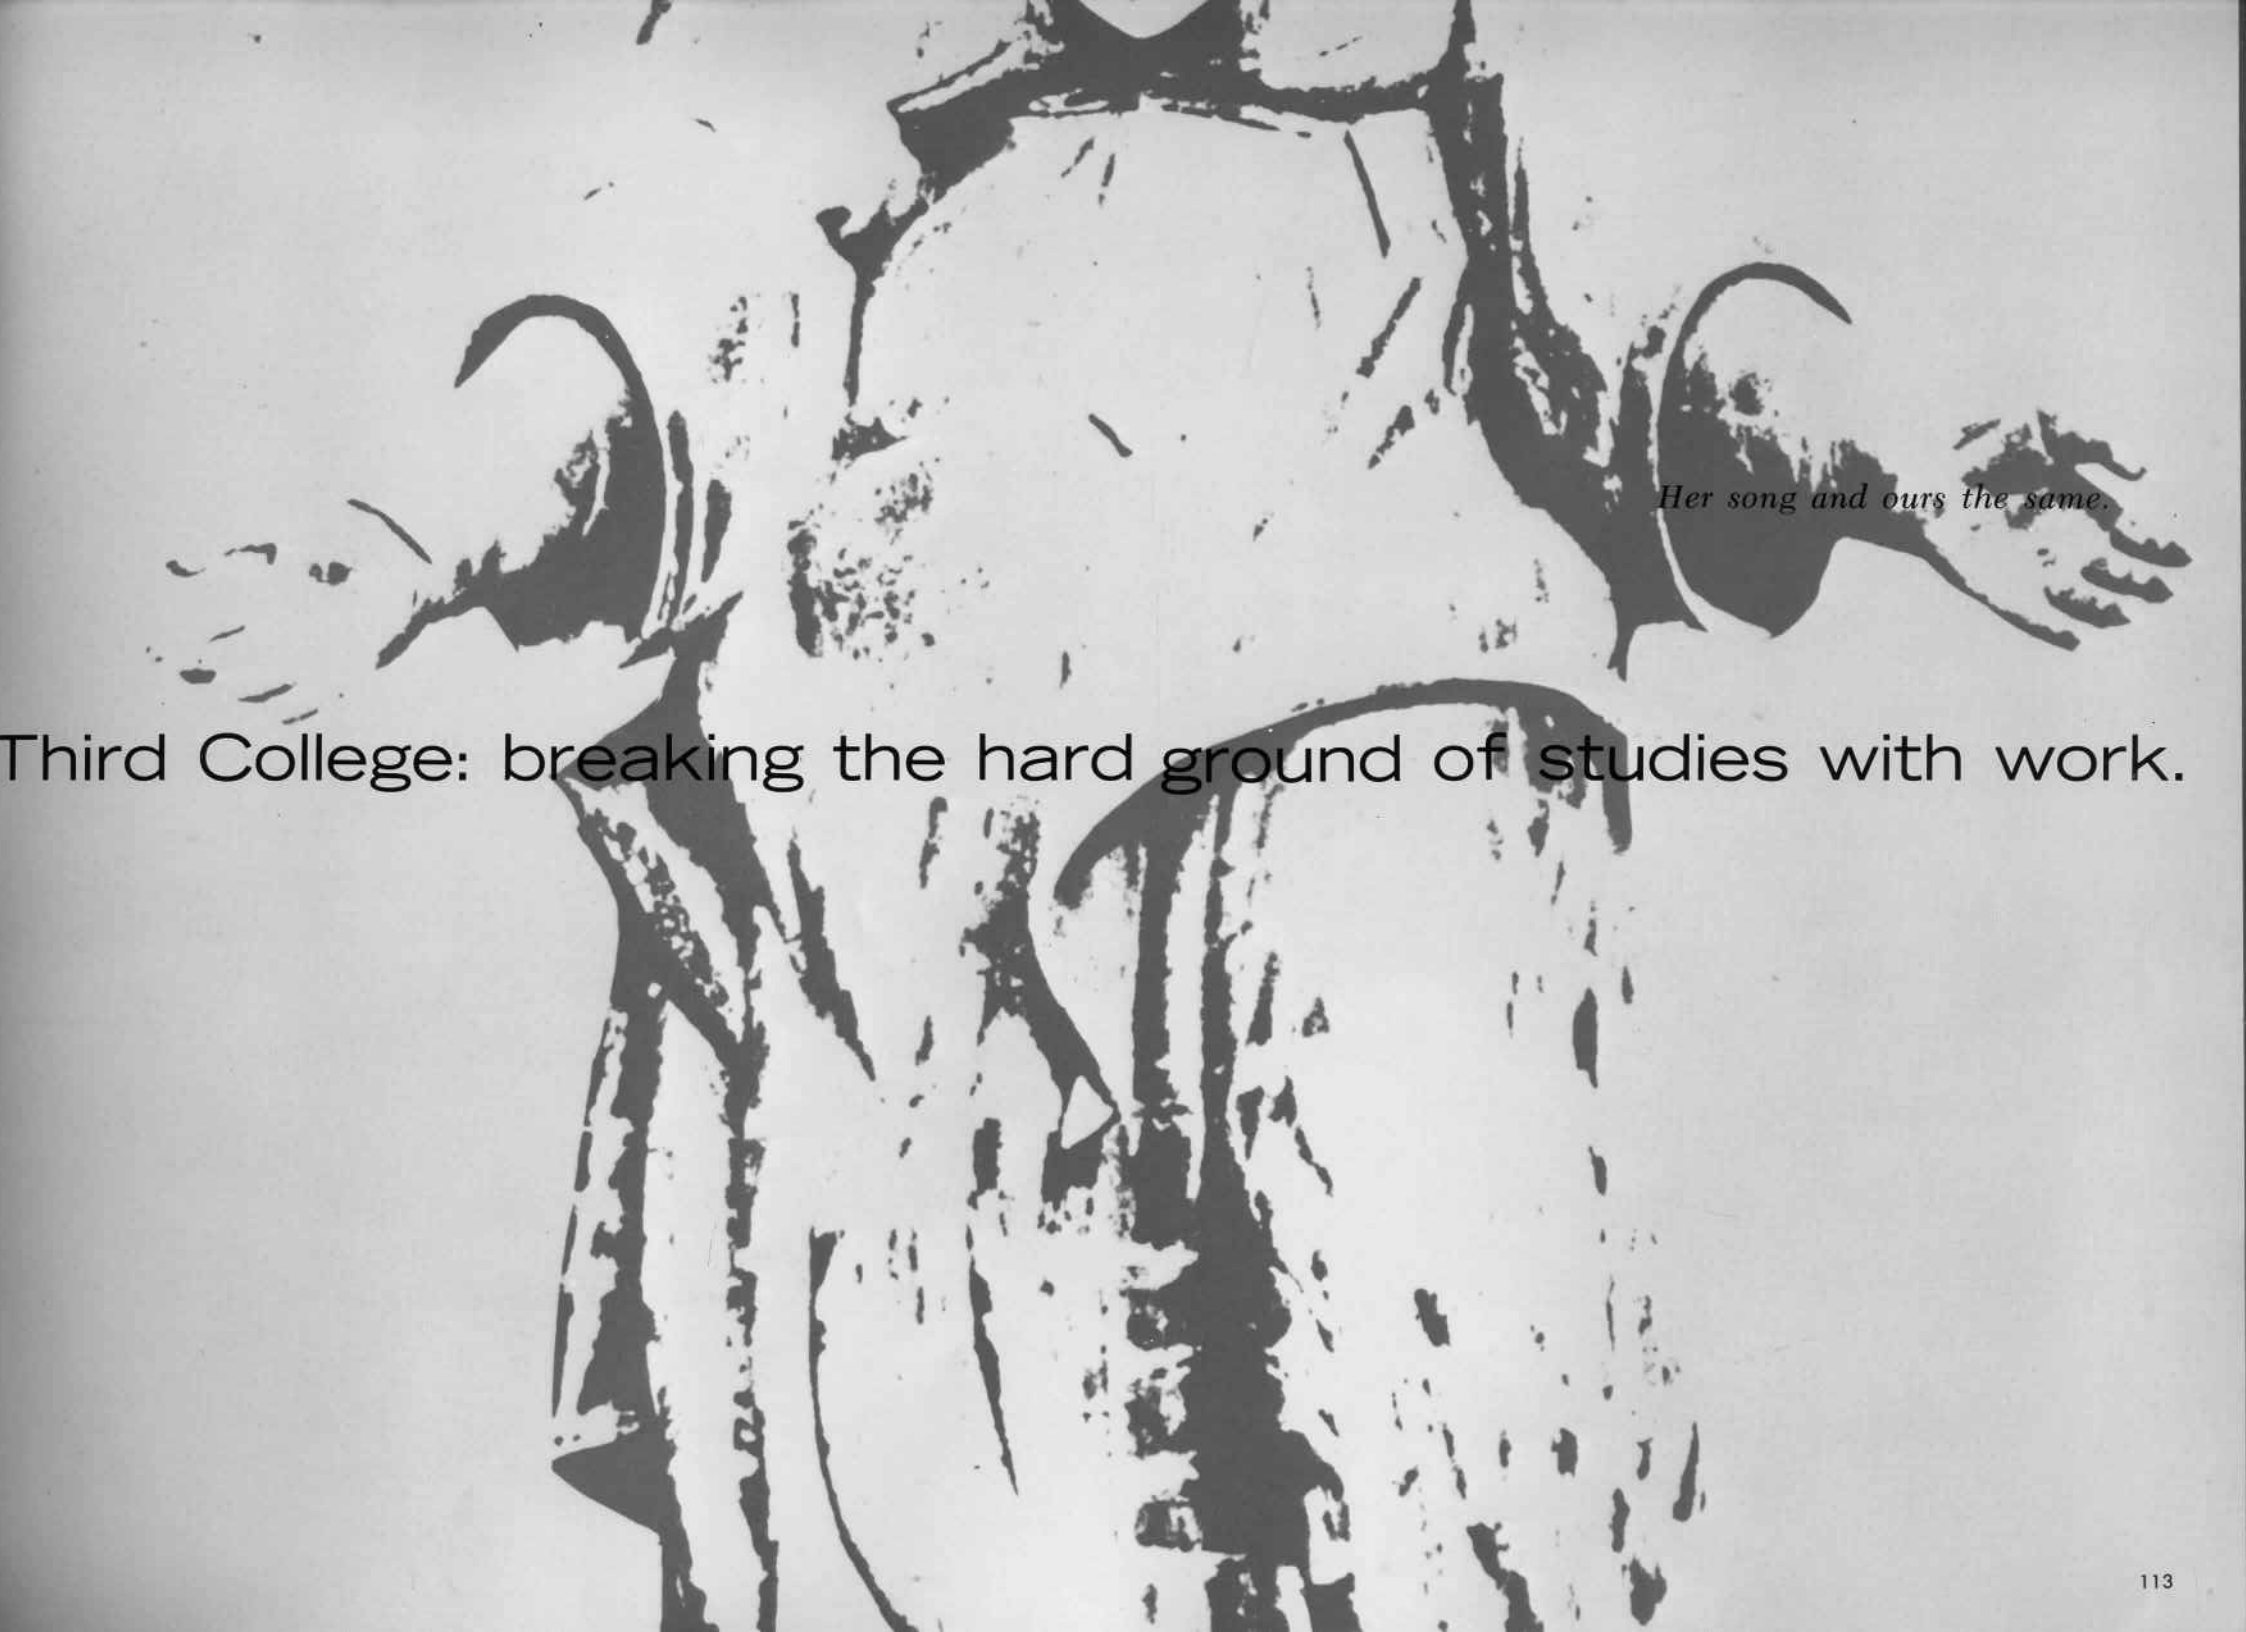

Stan Magiera has the podium at the annual American History Symposium while R. Kotlarz and J. Brzezinski lend an attentive ear.

Stan Magiera, Stan Chlapowski, and John Mikalajunas observe the new campus law: "Walk on the grass, keep off the sidewalk."

Candidates For Degrees

We sing of a Mother,
The Birth of our Love.

And in keeping ourselves with labor we are in truth loving life's song

*First my child you must learn the meaning of love,
It is giving unceasingly destruction of self satisfaction – growing
joy – complete
. . . for Love is my Son*

Theology Activities: the whole man, body and soul

The officers of the Polish Literary Society, T. Przybyszewski, S. Jasioneck, H. Preneta, J. Niemczyk, J. Mikalajunas, J. Moskal, and Ralph Biernacki all listen as Joe Karp recommends the translation of Webster's unabridged dictionary into Polish as the next Society project.

Jerry Gresco, Rev. Mr. Ted Gryga, and Tom Stanek fully realize the importance of a seminarian's total dedication to the Blessed Sacrament.

Schola Cantorum: we spread the song Orchard Lake sings to Mary. First Row: N. Maciejewski, S. Kot-sko, G. Banister, P. Petiprin, J. Brzezinski, R. Kotlarz. Second Row: W. Ferrett, P. Osinski, R. Ludwicki, S. Krogulecki, T. Przybyszewski, F. Banas, L. Chrobot. Third Row: T. Stachura, V. Lisek, R. Biernacki, M. Lackowski, M. Waczula, E. Prus.

KINO, a private venture of Phil Majka and Frank Liszewski, is perhaps the most authoritative source of film records on the Orchard Lake campus.

"I wonder if it should be red or black," ponders sacristan Bob Czok undecidedly.

Seminary prefectship: a difficult task with only spiritual reward, as can be attested to by Mat Kafka, Rev. Mr. Gene Prus, and Rev. Mr. Ted Stachura.

A quiet stroll with God as his companion for Rev. Mr. Carl Prushinski.

Love: life-secured, pain-constant, . . . Love is my Son

"But I still prefer hard-bound books to paper-backs," remarks Rev. Mr. Len Chrobot to Joe Nogas and Dave Rosh.

"How wonderful that all this profit is going to the Missions," states Rev. Mr. Joe Olinski to Dave Rosh, Joe Pawlosky, and Tom Stanek.

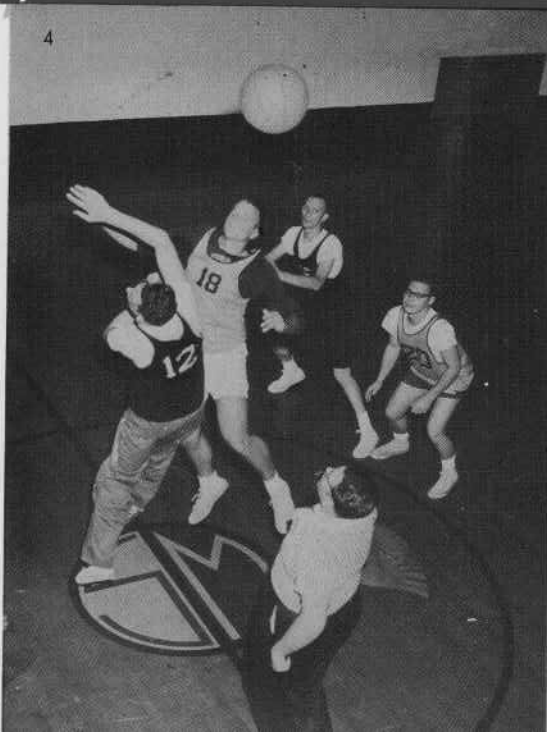

"Turner Swastek, do you think we can match the Louvre or the Prado?" asks Rev. Mr. Tom Kobuszewski.

"But I have Amy Vanderbilt's etiquette book," states Joe Karp to salesman Tom Stanek.

For Rev. Mr. Gene Prus a time of quietude, a time of reflection.

With the sounding of referee Carl Prushinski's whistle Vic Lisek and Joe Nicewicz strive and strain upward for the jump ball.

"If you have no Necco Wafers, can I have an Almond Joy," asks Rev. Mr. Carl Prushinski of canteen managers Stan Jasionek and Larry Hanko.

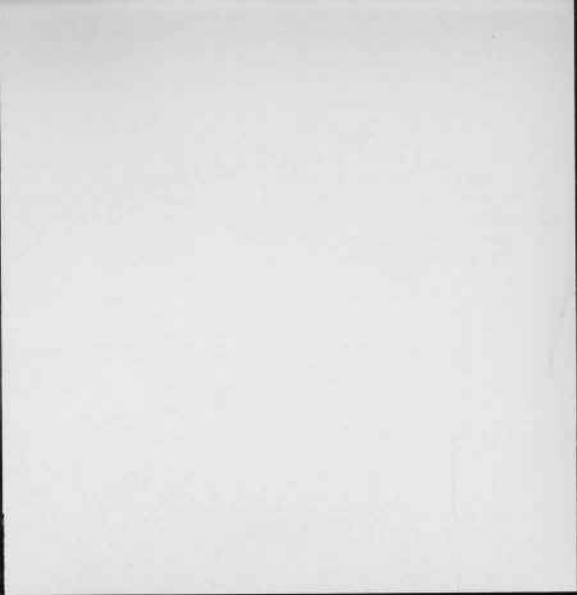

First Theology:
a new experience,

the beginning of the end

Resonant tinklings, hushed but audible

For Hank Preneta, silence and study are synonymous.

Ed Wesolowicz demonstrates the proper form for a good pool shot.

"But this has to be the place," declares Joe Karp to Ted Krzciuk.

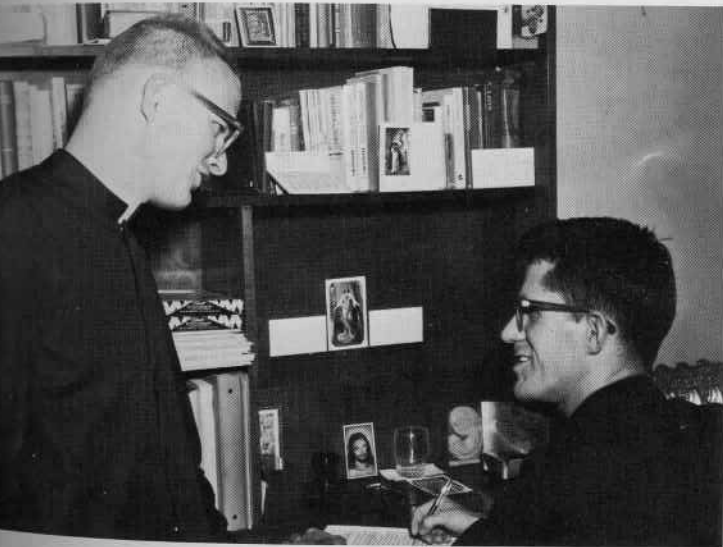

"Why do they make this net so prone to fall?" Charlie Bodziak questions Hank Preneta.

Second Theology: an awakening response to duty's call

Echoed in prayer to a Mother and Her Son

"Perhaps if we varnished the frame it wouldn't look so bad," suggests Walter Ferrett to Malcolm Stasiowski.

"You haven't read all these books, have you?" queries Mal Stasiowski of Tom Stanek.

"But why do you always carry that black bag?" Bob Czok questions Walter Ferrett.

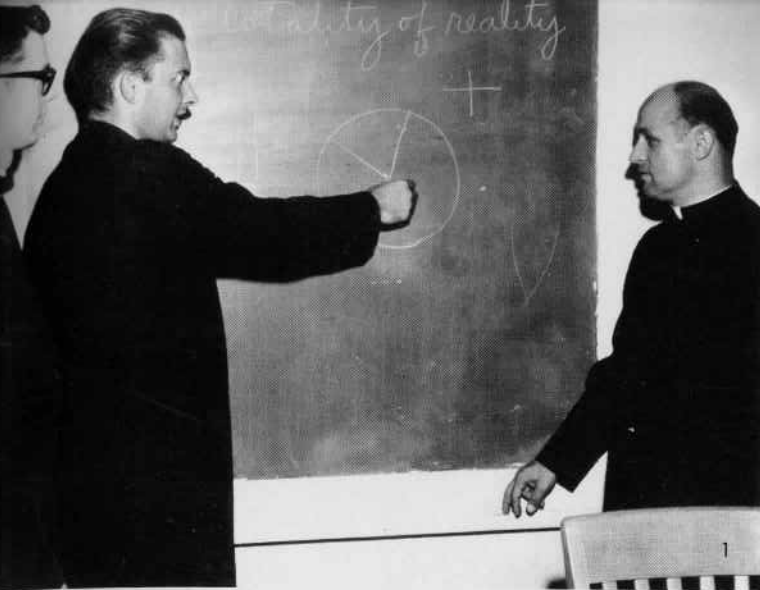

Scripture scholars John Michnowicz and Ted Przybyszewski confer together about the advisability of accepting newly-found, but as yet unclassified, documents and scriptural texts.

A joyful conversation shared by friends John Michnowicz and Mike Waczulc.

Third Theology: the end in sight, yet so far

A hymn of constant giving

1 "The whole man, body and soul, can be viewed only within the context of the totality of reality," points out Dave Rosh to Jerry Gresco and Gene Gacek.

2 A contact with the outside is made through the World News Map by Phil Majka and Jack Benoit.

3 "I hope this trend in Bible paperbacks does not precipitate another separation in the Church," remarks Tom Andrew to a grinning Ted Grzelak.

4 A stroll between classes is an excellent opportunity for conversation for Joe Nogas and Ralph Biernacki.

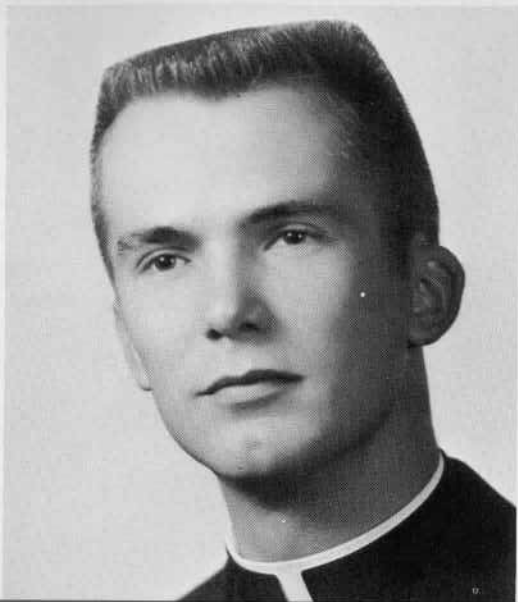

5 "If we, perhaps, can create a gimmick for the Sodality, we might raise our attendance," suggests Mike Waczula to John Michnowicz and Joe Kucka.
