To Our Pastor

Graduation has finally arrived and with it has come the knowledge that now all we have left of our high school days are a few cherished memories.

By and by most of the events centering around our four years of high school, and our classmates, will soon be forgotten. But there is one person who will constantly stand out before us, one who can never be forgotten--you, Father Marvin, our pastor and our most dear friend.

Due to your courageous and far-seeing spirit, Father Marvin, the little grade school of 1923 has greatly magnified in size. Not only have you given us a chance for intellectual attainment but you have also nourished us spiritually. You have accomplished this indirectly through the Catholic School which you built for us and directly through your spiritual guidance and administration of the sacraments.

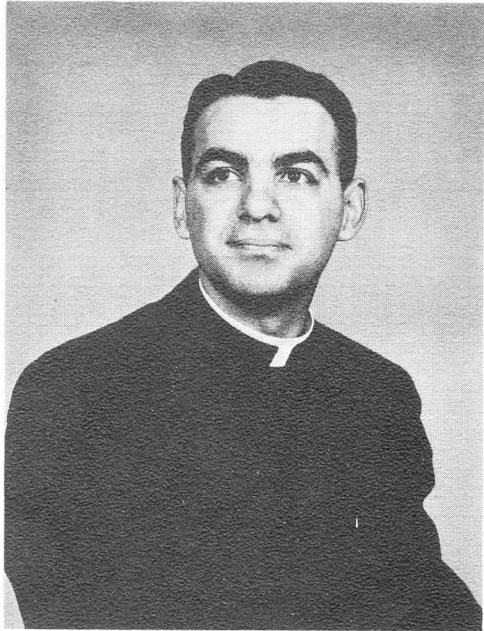

Never, dear Father Marvin, has there been a person more generous with his time than you. You have always been present at our special occasions, have always been ready to pass our report cards, to help us with our problems and to counsel us when counselling was needed.

You have known most of us since the day we were cleansed from original sin. It was you, dear Father Marvin, to whom we made our first confessions, you who witnessed our Confirmation. What happy days they were for us!

Now, as we graduate from Our Lady of Lake Huron High School, you will present to us our diplomas. May your prayer and personal guidance be with us as we depart from school life into life's school.

Dear Father Marvin, you will always be among our most cherished memories and though for some duties in life may summon them elsewhere, I know that whenever Our Lady of Lake Huron is mentioned, your name will be the first which we will recall. Thank you, dear Father Marvin, for all you have done for us and for this parish for the past twenty-three years. You will always hold a special place in the hearts of the thirty-two graduates of 1961.

To Our Assistant

We the Class of 1961, cannot forget Father Serour who has given us so much for which to be grateful. Father, you have given us a better understanding of our faith by so diligently teaching it to us and to the entire high school. You have given us a chance to iron out our problems by acting as counsellor, not only to us, but to the whole high school. You helped make our play a success by being a skillful play director. I doubt if we could have found a better one. The heartfelt thanks of the graduates of '61" go out to you, Father Serour, for all you have done for us.

Valedictory

And now, my dear classmates, a farewell message to all assembled here this evening. Everything that has happened since we gathered for our Class Day Banquet has conspired to make saying "good - bye" more difficult. The delicious banquet, the excellent company, the good wishes, the realization that this is one of those "last times" that is sort of plaguing us these days; all these make it hard to bid farewell to this event and to you who are very dear to us.

I feel that I can conclude in no more fitting way than by taking up the theme of our distinguished Salutatorian--that is, our beautiful class motto.

Thus far, Gary has presented to us an explanation of the first part of our class motto--"All for one". He has attempted to show us practical applications of this motto for our own benefit and the benefit of all, and for the glory of God. I shall now apply the same efforts to the remaining portion of our class motto--"One for all."

The phrase "one for all" contains an abundance of meanings--or perhaps one general meaning. In either case, it seems difficult to explain in just so many words. Perhaps the best interpretation is that it means just what it says--one for all, one individual working, living, praying for the good of all.

Our motto must first be applied to literally all, every soul existing in the world. In a smaller circle, it must be applied to the Mystical Body, the Church. Even nearer home, it must be applied to our business or place of work. But closest to the individual, it must be applied to our families--spiritual if we enter the religious state, physical if we enter the married state.

To apply this latter half of our class motto to the widest area available, the world, we need simply begin each day with a Morning Offering. In it we offer each prayer, work, joy, and suffering to God. We offer these for His glory and His intentions; and because God intends that each soul attain eternal happiness we fulfill our purpose--we become a one for all.

Vital and forceful application of our motto can be made to the Mystical Body, the Church, by assisting at Mass and frequently the sacraments. Several of the Mass prayers contain such phrases as "for all faithful Christians living and dead", "for all here present", "for all His holy Church." By saying these prayers properly we pray for and with the Mystical Body. And because the Mystical Body is a living organism, increased life in one member increases life in all. Worthy reception of the sacraments increases the life of God in our soul and consequently in all the Mystical Body. This, again, each of us becomes a "one for all."

On a more proximate plane of association, the business world, we must also apply our motto "one for all." Seemingly, since we are in a material atmosphere, our efforts for all would be material. True, we would work for the betterment of our company or business, and of course, for those individuals in it in a material manner. We would try to bring cooperation, friendliness, and honesty into our work; and the benefits might be in higher wage standards and a better working atmosphere for all. Now these efforts and their results are material and are good, as such. But are not the principles of cooperation, friendliness, and honesty based on the virtues of charity and justice? So even our worldly efforts can have a spiritual aspect in working for all.

The final phase of application is closest to the individual and probably the most dear and meaningful. We must apply our motto "one for all" to our families. This may be done through the Morning Offering, Mass and sacraments. The rewards will be family unity and a deep, abiding family love.

If one of us enters a religious order, he or she will acquire a spiritual family. And that person must be a "one for all" in spirit, will, and body for the good of the community. His or her efforts will be rewarded with unity and blessings for the order and personal sanctity for self.

As may be noted in each of the examples given, the key to the best use of our motto is the free offering of ourselves for God's glory and the general welfare of all. This too is the key to living the life God expects of us. With this impressed on our hearts, dear classmates, let us go forth into the world and be the good Catholics our loving pastor, Father Marvin, and the fine Sisters pray we will be. They have worked hard. Let us show our gratitude and worthiness by living by our motto-- "All for one and one for all."

Salutory

Rev. Fathers, dear Sisters, Class-mates, Friends:

On behalf of the graduating class of Our Lady of Lake Huron High School, I wish to extend to each of you a most sincere welcome. As we, the Class of 1961, who stand on the threshold of a new and fuller life look back over the past twelve years, we find that we have much to be thankful for. During these years we have spent our time preparing to step from the schoolroom where, as pupils, we have been guided and controlled in our intellectual and moral life; to the great community of the world where we will be on our own, in many respects, both intellectually and morally. We have, however, been taught to discriminate "the precious from the vile", beauty from sin, and what is innocent from what is poison. We have been armed with the moral training so necessary for a victorious battle in our fight against the evils of the world. For this valuable training we are grateful.

We chose a motto two years ago which we have tried to follow in our relationship with each other. "All for one, and one for all" was supposed to unite us in the bonds of charity and to emphasize the loyalty of each for the other members of the class and of the whole class for each, single member. Our good priests and sisters have striven to widen our outlook and application of this motto so that it might be extended to the whole Christian family, thus influencing our characters and directing us to increased awareness of our true status as Christians, children of our Father, God, and brothers of Jesus Christ. The necessity of love and brotherhood which Christ brought into the world has been given ample expressing and development in the Acts as the Apostles and in the Epistles, particularly those written by St. Paul. These inspired writings might be regarded as a blue print to be followed seriously in our determination to live in the Church—"All for one and one for all".

As members of the Mystical Body of Christ we are obliged to pray and work for the spiritual well-being of each of its members. We accomplish this by offering our prayers, work, joys, and sufferings of each day in union with Christ's great Sacrifice, for the honor and glory of God.

As citizens of our great nation, living up to this motto demands that we work together both for the general good and for the good of each other. Our attitude must not be "What can I get out of it?" but, "What can I put into it?" What can I do and what must I do to further the cause of Christ in America, in Michigan, in Harbor Beach, in my neighborhood in my home!

In whatever business or occupation we engage, we should work "all for one" in order that we may become an important cog, making the business as smooth running as possible. We can accomplish this by devoting the "best of us" to the cause of our work.

And, most important of all, we must work "all for one" and, along with the members of our family, assure every member a place in the everlasting happiness of Heaven.

I believe that the necessity of working "all for one" is apparent to all of us. We must be united "all for one" for the physical, spiritual, and mental betterment of our fellow members in the Mystical Body, for the uplifting of society, and for the greater honor and glory of God. This, I believe to be our collective and our individual responsibility.

Speaking for the class of '61 I would like to thank our devoted pastor, Father Marvin, our wonderful assistant, Father Serour, and our fine sisters for their unceasing efforts to supply the intellectual and spiritual training so necessary for us in coping with the world into which we must now take our places. We are thankful for the privilege of a Catholic education made possible through the combined efforts of our parents, our priests, and our sisters. As a proof of our gratitude I hope we shall succeed in living up to our class motto, which embodies the great commandment of the love of neighbor - "All for one and one for all"--thus shall we fulfill the end of our creation - the greater honor and glory of God!
