Tribute To Our Lady

'Tis the month of our Mother,
The blessed and beautiful days,
When our lips and our spirits,
Are glowing with love,
And with praise.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR PASTOR

Of all the associations made by the members of the class of 1962, the one that will remain with us throughout the years is the one made with our beloved pastor, Father Marvin. For most of us, this association has been one of long standing. It was our pastor who planted in us at Baptism, the beginnings of our spiritual life and over the years has seen to it's growth and developement. It was our pastor who heard our first confession, gave us our first Holy Communion, and attended to our every spiritual need.

You, Father Marvin, have done far more for us than the duties of your state of life require. In fact, you have done everything possible to make our years of learning here at O.L.L.H. the happiest and most rewarding of our lives. You have provided us with the facilities necessary for the learning process, materially, scholastically, physically, as well as spiritually, but far more important you have given us the desire for knowledge.

Yes, dear Father, you have given your children all these advantages.

It is with these facts in mind that we pay tribute to you this day, Father, on the eve of your 70th birthday, and hope that our small "thank you" will somehow, somewhere be adequate recompense for all that you, the pastor of our Church and friend to all, have endeavored to accomplish, for the class of 1962. And so happy birthday and may God bless and preserve you for many years to come.

Dennis Lemanski

A TRIBUTE TO FATHER SEROUR

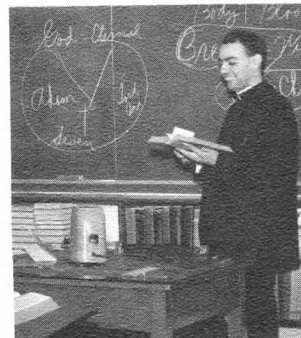

To be a teacher is to have a great mission in life. The math pedagogue shows pupils how to solve equations and bisect angles; the science professor explains how to break down water into its components: -oxygen and hydrogen; the domestic science teacher stresses how to make homes more attractive and meals more delectable; but the religion instructor teaches us through dogma, morals, scripture, and tradition of the existence of God whose creation of the universe and the creatures upon it are without number; of the God Who caused life upon the earth and planets to be set in motion; of the God Who sent His only Begotten Son down to man that He might redeem Him and prepare a heavenly home in His Kingdom where man can chant the praises of God throughout eternity.

These precepts, Rev. Fr. Serour, you have attempted to instill into the minds and hearts of us Seniors.

It is the cherished good seed that you have sown for the past two years. These are the seeds which we, the Class of 1962, hope and pray will bring forth fruit a hundredfold in this life and the life-to-come.

We Seniors take this occasion to thank you for your personal interest in guiding each one of us, when the atoms and molecules of daily difficulties become complex, then we shall recall your fatherly advice that if we know, love, and serve God in this world—we shall be happy with Him for all eternity.

Salutory

The Class of 1962 salutes you, bids you a sincere welcome to this Banquet, and thanks you for your presence here this evening. I know that I am speaking for each member of the class when I try to say that we are grateful. We wish to include in our expression of gratitude all those who have made sacrifices to make possible the training and education we have received.

Our class has chosen the motto "Look forward, not back," It is not a characteristic of youth to look back but we will surely look back-just long enough and far enough-to correct our mistakes or to draw upon the lessons of experience. Characteristically, we turn to the future to face the adventures and excitement and opportunities that lie before us, we are "looking forward."

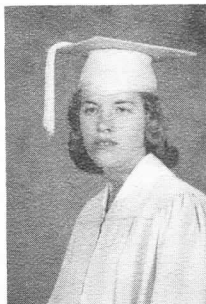

Looking forward to what? To a share in the mighty progress, the forward motion of history, the movement of men and nations towards the Ultimate! We have set our sights beyond to the moon, above the stars, across outer space into the realm of reality - God's Divine Providence guiding His creations and from this height we confidently "look forward" to life lived within the orbit of His Divine Will for the whole world and for each one of us.

Science, too has held a leading place for men looking forward. Here we also meet with God. He is the Author of its laws, the Revealer of the secrets of the universe. We meet these truths of science in almost every human living. National defence, space exploration, communication, food production, industry, medicine, education, even in the propagation of Faith, in every field of human endeavor and inter-relationship, we are applying science, from the simple discoveries of primitive man to the inventions of the geniuses of all ages whose latest technological feats probe outer space or release the immeasurable power of the atom. These are only the beginning, for just as a journey of a thousand miles must begin with a single step, great things of science must begin with small ideas that will keep our nation moving forward.

There is the whole range of the supernatural world-unfathomable in its grandeur. When the Word of God, written in Scripture or in the Incarnate Son of God enters into the life of a man this new force impels him to go forward. The life of St. Augustine is a fine example. Once he read clearly the "Word of God" his agonizing search for truth was ended. He went forward in Christ.

History, politics, technology, culture, Religion - all form a great and changing pattern displayed before us this evening. We are bound to move forward with their developments; we have little choice. Only one element in it all is steady - our Faith in God, our Church, our belief in the fidelity of God to His promise to remain with His Church. With in the Mystical Body of Christ we must keep moving forward guided by those eternal truths that form the foundation of our lives as we step into the forward moving current of the modern world. Class of 1962, take the step with courage; let Christ be your guiding star, look forward - God is the Master of his creations.

Mary Jane Booms

Valedictory

My task this evening is to say farewell. This is not an easy thing to do - it is both delicate and sad. To assume that there is no finality in our farewell is reasonable, for we are neither leaving the country, nor the earth, but it is true that once the days of our student life are over, we enter these halls as ex-students, as-alumni - not as those who hang their coats in the lockers and take their seats in the classroom. It is to this intimate belongingness that we are saying farewell - and for many of us this is sad.

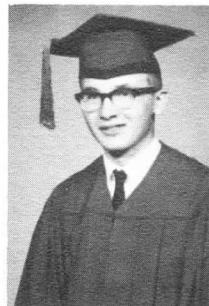

Before we disperse this evening, I wish to pause and do what our Salutatorian said was not characteristic of youth - I wish to look back into the years of our high school to select those specific things that have contributed to make this wonderful schooling possible. Our parents, of course, reared us and sent us to school. We have been guided by priests and taught by sisters whose preparation and dedication to their work has extended into decades of years. With their help, and the cooperation of our parents we have fought battles in the spiritual and intellectual order; with their encouragement we have reached the goal of graduation. How can one say "Thank you" for things so truly valuable? It is our desire to do this, but only time and our preformance of duty and right living can test the sincerity of our gratitude. We pledge here tonight an honest effort to recompense our parents, our pastor, our teachers, and our friends in this community of Harbor Beach, for all their efforts to prepare us for our adult lives. We have been prepared to face the future - to "Go forward" as our motto puts it - with a greater knowledge of ourselves, or our fellowman, of the world of nature, and of God, Our Father. Thanks to all, we have no need to fear when we look forward.

Why is this forward looking attitude so important? Because to look back is to waste time. For us Catholics, Mother Church has preserved the best of the past for us in what we call our Christian heritage - in religious truths, history, literature, liturgy, the lives of the saints in every century, and most important of all, in Sacrament and Sacrifice. There are the treasures we carry away from the past into the future.

The Ecumenical Council, to open in October, points to the progressive attitude of Pope John. The Church must help people to apply eternal truths in a changing social order. We can assist by prayer and sacrifice in the efforts of the Church to bring about the realization of Christ's prayer and prophecy - "That all may be one" and "There shall be one fold and one shepherd."

So, my dear classmates, there is only one direction for us to take - if we want to live our lives fully and fruitfully - a forward direction - toward the Eternal Truth, the Absolute, into whose Life we have been incorporated and share by grace, and whose beatitude we shall share in glory. Let us say our "Farewell" with courage and with gratitude. Let us pledge each other a daily "Ave Maria" to assure ourselves of a successful march toward our final destination.
